Please join us at the beautiful par-71 Country Club of Charleston, one of the Southeast's premiere private golf clubs, with sweeping vistas along the Wappoo Creek toward Charleston Harbor. Site of the 2019 U.S. Women's Open, the course was designed by Seth Raynor, known for recreating the strategy and design of well-known Scottish golf courses. Number 11 is an especially notorious replica of number 15 at North Berwick.

Left to Right: Ken Lam, Music Director; Brandon Nichols, Principal Horn;
Norbert Lewandowski, Principal Cello; and Charlie Messersmith,
Principal Clarinet, tune up for Swing for the Symphony 2020

The day's schedule is as follows:

- 10:30 am Registration
- 12:00 pm Shotgun Start including lunch
- 5:30 Celebration including food & drink and prizes

Prizes include:

- Hole-in-one
- Closest to the pin men
- Closest to the pin women

Kellen Gray, Assistant Conductor and Conductor, Charleston Symphony Youth Orchestra

Yuriy Bekker, Concertmaster and Principal Pops Conductor

After a fabulous day of golf, a Swing for the Symphony Celebration will include music provided by the CSO Brass, prizes—featuring golf at some of the finest private clubs and resorts—food & drink and a silent auction. Guests are invited to attend the post-golf celebration.

Sponsorships are available from $350 to $10,000. Let us tell you more about them!

We look forward to seeing you on October 5. Thank you in advance!

All proceeds benefit the Charleston Symphony and CSOL® Music Scholarships.

Every Swing Helps Keep the Music Playing!

The Charleston Symphony Orchestra League, Inc. is actively monitoring COVID-19 requirements in line with the City of Charleston, local health officials and the Country Club of Charleston, our host location. We will keep sponsors and players advised as the situation evolves. The Club is open, and players are enjoying the beautiful course safely. We look forward to enjoying the day with you.
